Fleet drivers benefit when recorded video exonerates them from false accident claims. Video protects vehicles and trailers from theft. Video evidence can even help with prosecuting theft and property recovery. These combined benefits can lead to lower commercial insurance costs.

The VidFleet™ One solution can help fleet managers reduce their Total Cost of Ownership and improve your confidence in centralized fleet management. Recorded video of driver errors can be a valuable tool for coaching drivers to improve their driving habits.

Fleet owners and managers don't want the public to see their company name on the side of fleet trucks that are driven aggressively. When you worry about drivers who keep customers waiting or who waste company time on personal errands, the VidFleet™ One solution can be reassuring.
